Internship

Village Health Works (VHW) is a non-profit organization that strives to bring social justice through access to high quality health care for all as the path to progress and dignity. Our global health and development programs bring lasting change to the world's most impoverished and vulnerable people. VHW was founded upon a strong belief that good health, i.e. health of the mind, body and spirit, is a pre-requisite for any society to be self-sufficient and peaceful. Our mission is to provide high quality and compassionate healthcare in a dignified environment, regardless of a patient's ability to pay, while addressing the root causes of illness and disease. With headquarters in New York City, but currently focusing our energy in Burundi, VHW's mission is to be a center of excellence in healing and teaching our world in a dignified environment while promoting community empowerment and economic opportunities for the poor. We work closely with local communities whose leaders participate in decision-making. VHW's project in Burundi was officially established as a 501 (c)(3) organization in 2006.

In New York City: we are building an excellent team of people who are willing to donate their valuable time and skills to help build our work in Burundi. If you're willing to get your hands dirty and learn an enormous amount in the process, please apply for the position below.

Web Design and Development Internship

The web design internship is a volunteer position that would require 10-20 hours per week. Tasks would include working with the Executive Director and Communications Team to keep the website up-to-date with new content, developing designs and implementing new web features, and working with print publishing. This is an ideal position for anyone passionate about web design and social justice issues; wants to gain hands-on experience designing a professional website; and work with a really exciting team of volunteers. A solid knowledge of HTML, CSS, and Photoshop required. Understanding of the Wordpress backend, PHP, MySQL, and/or JavaScript a plus. Ideally, this position would work from our New York office, but working from home is a possibility.

If you wish to apply, please review our website (www.villagehealthworks.org) and send a cover letter, resume, and examples of your work to resumes@villagehealthworksorg. Please put "Web Design Internship" in the subject.
